

Sunset Strip in SC?

Strange Days, a Doors tribute band. Strange Days lead singer Jason Tosta grew up enthralled and haunted by the Doors, and he seemed to channel Jim Morrison at times with his looks and phrasing, jumping off an amp as the real Morrison did when he performed. Robert Carsten on guitar, Michael Jacobsen on keyboards and pedal bass and Valley boy Chris Lammers as Robbie Krieger, Ray Manzarek and John Densmore on drums were note perfect and had the he crowd partying and dancing in the back of the room. It seemed they must be having as much fun as the kids who went to see the Doors on the Sunset Strip in the 60s, just over the hill on Laurel Canyon from Studio City. Strange days, indeed.
